To Whom It May Concern:

As the principal of Mary Beck School, I am writing in support of "Five Star Destiny," an inspiring and motivational program dedicated to providing young people with the character and behavioral tools to effectively make decisions that will help them realize their goals and dreams—starting now!

It has been a privilege to lend our support and our facilities to Justin and Seth Maust at Mary Beck School, as they work with our sixth grade students in an exciting, well-planned and well-delivered after school program. The program model of small groups, led by visionary coaches, has provided the Beck students who are participating in the program with the motivation and encouragement needed to come to school each day, do their best and set goals that are reachable, with the support of the "team." Our data indicates that students in the "Five Star" program attend school regularly, improve their behavior, and develop a more positive outlook on school, and their reasons for being here.

I have seen firsthand the difference having the "Five Star Destiny" program has made in the lives of many students who, otherwise, would not have an outlet for problem-solving, physical activity, and mentoring support. Mary Beck School offers its students many opportunities for recreation and academic support, but only "Five Star" offers the kind of program that reaches the heart of the child.

This letter is in support of this amazing program, with the hope that Justin and Seth Maust will be afforded an opportunity to have what they need to make sure that "Five Star Destiny" will continue to be a success.

Sincerely,

Ann Rivera
Principal
